

From: The Office of the President

Greetings,

My name is Freddie Cobb and I am honored to introduce myself as the new President of W.T.A.A.D.A.C.

My vision for our organization can be expressed in one word: UNITY.

As counselors serving the Western Region of Tennessee, we will continue to come together for trainings at host locations that provide valuable CEU opportunities and create meaningful networking experiences. Together, we will strengthen our community of professionals dedicated to treating addiction, mental illness, and a variety of other behavioral health challenges.

As an affiliate of NAADAC, our mission is to interrupt the cycle of addiction through quality treatment, strong advocacy efforts, and the development of vital resources for our communities. United as providers, we can help individuals rise above their circumstances by supporting their recovery journeys and strengthening their families and community connections because it is within homes and neighborhoods that true healing begins.

We remain committed to encouraging those we serve to pursue their goals and dreams while maintaining a high quality of life. I humbly ask for your support as we work together to combat the disease of addiction. This work can only be accomplished through the collective unity of WTAADAC.

Thank you for your time and dedication.

Sincerely,
Freddie Cobb, LADAC
President
